A Karato Market

This wholesale market is open not only to food professionals but also casually to the general public. You can get reasonably priced fresh foodstuffs, including puffer fish, one of the specialties of Shimonoseki City. On Fridays and Saturdays (10 a.m. to 3 p.m.) and Sundays and holidays (8 a.m. to 3 p.m.), they open Iki-iki Bakangai, an event where seafood stalls appear in the market and you can eat sushi, seafood bowls, puffer fish soup, and more made with fresh seafood provided by wholesale dealers.

Access from Shimonoseki Station

B Nagato Yumoto Onsen

Nagato Yumoto Onsen is the oldest hot spring in the prefecture and was discovered about 600 years ago. Many accommodations stand beside the clear stream of the Otozure River where the Genji fireflies fly around and the Kajika frogs sing, creating a gentle atmosphere as a hot-spring resort.

Access from Shin-Yamaguchi Station

Tourist Spots in the Area

① Shimonoseki Kaikyokan (aquarium)

Kaikyokan exhibits 35,000 aquatic animals belonging to 550 species. The Seto Inland Sea tunnel tank recreates the Kanmon Straits to make it feel as if you were walking on the seabed. The aquarium is also characterized by exhibitions unique to Shimonoseki, such as a skeletal display of the entire body of a blue whale exhibited only in Japan, as well as the world's largest number of exhibited species of puffer fish.

Access from Shimonoseki Station

② Akama Shrine

The shrine is dedicated to Antoku, a child emperor who drowned himself in the Battle of Dan-no-ura held by the Nun of the Second Rank. There is the Suitenmon gate having plaster and vermilion walls, and inside the grounds are the graves of the Taira clan, the hall of Hoichi the Earless, and a treasure house exhibiting precious materials.

③ Tawarayama Onsen

The hot spring, which has a history of more than 1,000 years and is known as an idyllic spa resorts, is designated as one of the national hot spring health resort. Legend says that it was discovered by a white monkey, an incarnation of Yakushi Nyorai (Bhaisajyaguru). The hot spring boasts one of the greatest and strong alkaline water in Japan.

④ Motonosumi Shrine

The shrine is a place with superb views that became famous after being chosen as one of the 31 most beautiful places in Japan by the American TV channel CNN. The scenery of 123 torii gates standing for more than 100 m is overwhelming. It is believed that if you can successfully throw offertory money into the offertory box hanging at the top of the about 6 m high gate, your wish will come true.

C Akiyoshido Cave

Designated as a special national treasure, the huge limestone cave is located at the base of Akiyoshidai Plateau and one of the best in the East. The entrance is 24 m high and 8 m wide, with the widest part of the cave reaching 200 m wide and the highest part 80 m tall. Although its general tourist route is less than 1 km, the total length of the cave is said to be about 10 km long. As the temperature inside the cave is about 17 degrees C regardless of the season, you can explore the cave comfortably throughout the year. In November 2005, Akiyoshidai Groundwater System was registered as one of the Ramsar Convention sites.

7 Kotozaki Hachimangu Shrine

Fukubara Echigo, one of the persons assigned responsibility for the Kinmon Incident, was enshrined here in 1865. The shrine bustles with many citizens at the beginning of the new year and during seasonal festivals and is famous for selling more than 700 kinds of lucky charms.

Access from Tokiwa Park

8 Street Sculptures

In the central urban area of Ube City, there are various sculptures here that look as if they blend into the people's everyday life. You can enjoy a leisurely walk from Ube-Shinkawa Station to the city's central part while looking at the scattered sculptures.

Access from Tokiwa Park

E Hagi Castle Town

Nationally designated historical site
The city of Hagi, which had flourished for 260 years as a castle town since Mori Terumoto established Hagi Castle in 1604, is one of the foremost historical sites. The strong atmosphere of a castle town remains here as seen in the magnificent old samurai residences, earthen fences, and namako walls over which you can see natsumikan (citrus fruit), and in the street layout with sharp turns surrounded by earthen walls.

9 Shokasonjuku Academy

This World Heritage site in the culture category is a private school held by Shoin Yoshida who educated students during the later days of the Edo period (around the mid-19th century). The academy produced many people who contributed to the modernization of Japan from the later days of the Edo period to the early Meiji period (toward the later 19th century).

Access from Hagi Bus Center

10 Hagi Reverberatory Furnace

This World Heritage site in the culture category is the remains of a reverberatory furnace built in 1856 by the Hagi Domain that aimed at casting Western-type iron cannons. The reverberatory furnace is a metal smelting furnace necessary for casting cannons. Currently, the 10.5 m high chimney is the only part that remains.

Tourist Spots in the Area

11 St. Francis Xavier Memorial Church

The catholic church was built in 1952 to commemorate the 400th anniversary of St. Francis Xavier's coming to Yamaguchi. The current building rebuilt in April 1998 has a unique structure carrying two towers. The structure and sounds of its peace bells are loved by the citizens.

Access from Yuda Onsen (Yuda Onsen-dori)

12 Rurikoji Temple Five-storied Pagoda

Rurikoji Temple's five-storied pagoda, one of the three great pagodas of Japan, was built in 1442. This 31.2 m high pagoda has cypress-thatched roofs and was designated as a national treasure in 1903.

G Hofu Tenmangu Shrine

Tenmangu are shrines that enshrine Sugawara-no-Michizane who is worshipped as the god of learning. This is the first Tenmangu shrine in Japan and is known as one of the Three Great Tenjin Shrines in Japan along with Kitano Tenmangu in Kyoto and Dazaifu Tenmangu in Fukuoka. Because Michizane is the god of learning, many young worshippers come to buy writing brushes and entrance-exam lucky charms. About more than 300,000 people visit during the first three days of the new year. Ume ( Japanese plum) flowers come into bloom in or around February coloring the shrine premises.

13 Mori Clan Garden

The garden and residence of the Mori Clan, the lords of the former Hagi Domain, are together designated as a National Site of Scenic Beauty. The stroke-style garden around the large pond allows you to enjoy seasonally different scenery. The residence built in 1916 is a magnificent all-cypress building, a part of which is a museum that houses and displays national treasures and important cultural properties.

Access from Hofu Station

H Kintaikyo Bridge

A National Site of Scenic Beauty. Kintaikyo Bridge is a wooden bridge with five continuous arches spanning over the clear water of Nishiki River and is one of the Three Strange Shaped Bridges in Japan. It was built in 1673 by the third lord of the Iwakuni Domain, Hiroyoshi Kikkawa, and the current bridge is in its fourth generation. The bridge is supported by the combination of wood materials without using any fasteners such as nails, wires, and clamps. It is designated as a National Site of Scenic Beauty. At the Kintaikyo Festival held on April 29, you can get the impression of being in the Edo period by viewing the daimyo's procession crossing the bridge.

How to take a bus

STEP.1 Before boarding

Only Japanese yen is accepted, so have some yen coins in advance for smooth bus use.
(On the bus, you can exchange only coins and 1,000-yen bills.)

STEP.2 Waiting at the bus stop

- Check your destination and timetable at the bus stop. After your bus arrives, do not step off the sidewalk until the door opens.
- When buses arrive, check their destination on the sign.
- If you are not certain if the bus will go to your destination, ask the driver.

STEP.3 Boarding the bus

- Board from the entrance.
- Form one line when boarding.

- Take one numbered ticket, which will be required when getting off the bus. You will pay the fare when getting off.

STEP.4 On the bus

To prevent accidents on the bus, always take a seat when the bus is running, or if you are standing, hold the strap or handrail.

- Offer your seat to an elderly person, handicapped person, or pregnant woman.
- Share seats with others.
- Keep quiet in the bus.
- Refrain from talking on the cellphone.
- Take all garbage with you.

STEP.5 Before getting off a bus

The name of your destination bus stop will be shown on the fare indicator set at the front. Press the closest stop button before getting off.

*If no one presses the button, the bus may pass the stop.

For safety reasons, do not stand up until the bus completely stops and the door opens.

Getting off a bus

STEP.6 Checking the fare

Check the fare indicator set at the front and the number of your ticket. Be sure to have exact change ready.

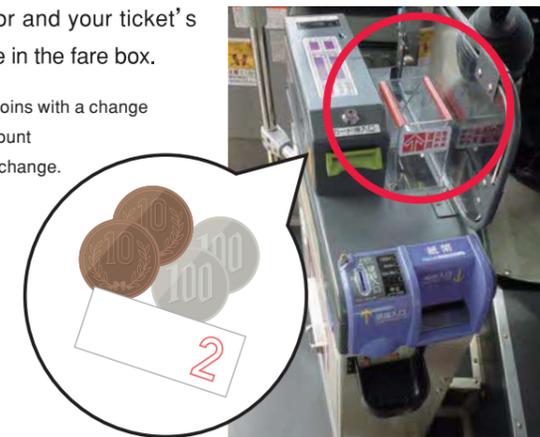

Check the fare under the same number of your ticket number.
*220 yen in this case

STEP.7 Paying the fare

Check the fare indicator and your ticket's number, and put the fare in the fare box.

*Please change money into coins with a change machine to pay the exact amount because you will not get any change.

Coin changer

Exchange of money is accepted only from coins and 1,000-yen bills. As bills with a value of 2,000 yen or more cannot be exchanged, have a 1,000-yen bill or coins ready before boarding.

STEP.8 Getting off a bus

- Check your luggage and belongings and do not leave anything behind.
- Get off at the exit.
- When getting off, watch your step and watch out for bicycles or others on the street.
- Running out into the street after getting off the bus is dangerous.
